

Listen to the Exhortation
of the Dawn
Look to this Day, for it
is Life
The very Life of Life!
In its brief course lie all
the Verities
And all the Realities
Of your Existence:
The bliss of Growth,
The Glory of Action,

The Splendor of Beauty;
For Yesterday is but a Dream
And tomorrow is only a vision;
But Today, well lived,
Makes every Yesterday a
Dream of Happiness.
And every Tomorrow a
Vision of Hope.
Look well, therefore, to this
Day!
Such is the Salutation of the Dawn.

YESTERDAY, TODAY, TOMORROW

The first entrance to Manor.

Twenty years have lapsed since Manor Junior College was established. Though Manor stands today as surely as it did two decades ago, a gradual evolution on both the material and intellectual fronts is evident, as can be seen from the perspective of Manor YESTERDAY, TODAY, AND TOMORROW.

On the twentieth anniversary of Manor, the 1967 yearbook is dedicated to those unselfish, persevering Sisters of St. Basil the Great, the oldest religious order in the Catholic Church.

Upon the invitation of the first Bishop of Ukrainian Catholics in the United States, a group of sisters emigrated to the United States from southeastern Europe, later founding educational institutions in Fox Chase, Pennsylvania, as well as in several other areas of this country.

Offering postgraduate courses for students of St. Basil's Academy, Manor College unit, in 1959, received state accreditation as Manor Junior College with the right to confer Associate Degrees in the Liberal Arts and Secretarial studies.

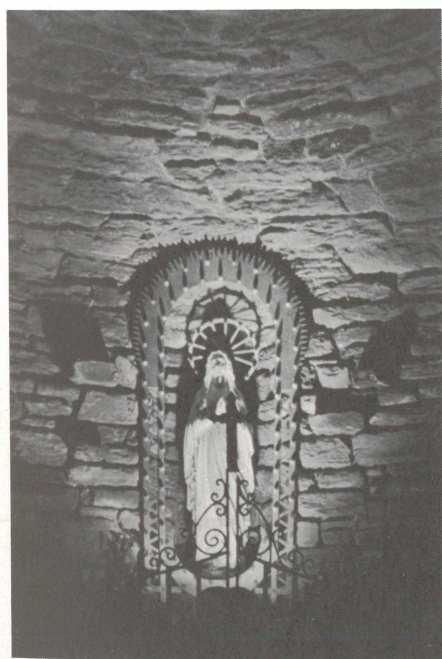

Breaking ground for Manor's new academic building.

Watching progress of Mother of Perpetual Help Hall.

Just as the entering student has experienced the transformation from high school graduate, to college freshman, so too, Manor has grown from Macrina Hall, the tiny building housing its first student body, to the present Mother of Perpetual Help Hall. A fitting addition to this classroom administration building, St. Josaphat Hall (students' resident dormitory), was opened in 1964.

Lights for Our Lady.

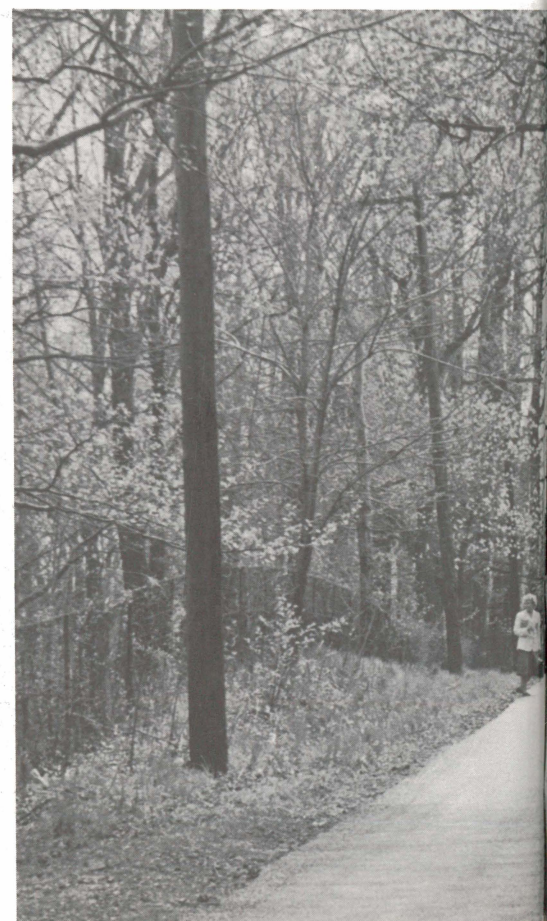

New view of old Macrina Hall.

The quest for knowledge is as ceaseless as time's continuing march. In an endeavor to expand intellectual opportunities, plans have been completed for the new St. Thomas More library.

As Manor's physical growth steadily continues, so the cultivation of her intellectual pursuits becomes an ever increasing challenge to the Manorettes. Upon termination of two years, the Liberal Arts Manorettes will have had sufficient preparation to continue their academic studies as a junior in a four year college. For other Manorettes, the sound business training will equip them for promising careers as secretaries in the specialized fields of law, medicine, and executive leadership.

"If Winter comes, can Spring be far behind?"

Two decades have passed since Manor first opened its doors of higher education. Though the passing of time has brought about many changes in Manor's appearance, one quality remains immutable, the philosophy upon which Manor was founded—the dedication to developing personal holiness by instilling high spiritual ideals and by communicating an ecumenical attitude towards our complex society.

The greens of Christmas give way to the verdure of spring after sunlight melts winter snow.

HIERARCHY

His Holiness, Pope Paul VI

*For you are all children of God by faith in Jesus Christ.
For as many of you are baptized in Christ have put on Christ.
There is neither Jew nor Greek; there is neither bond nor free; there is neither male nor female.
For you are all one in Jesus Christ.
And, if you be Christ's, then are you the seed of Abraham, heirs according to the promise.*

THEOLOGY

THE REVEREND BERNARD
SHIMKUS

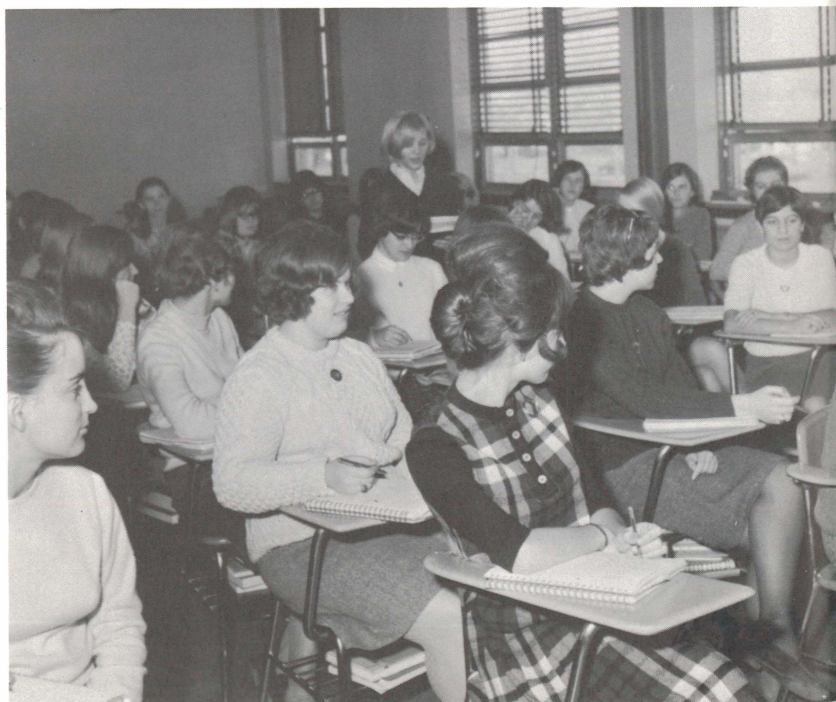

The study of God, Theology, and "the pursuit of wisdom through logical reasoning," Philosophy, play an integral part in the development of the mind and soul of the citizen of TOMORROW.

As youth of TODAY, we are confronted by situations demanding sound principles and moral stamina. To insure our success and to help attain our goals and aspirations, Theology and Philosophy provide the background—we, as researchers of the PAST, and doers in the PRESENT looking to the brotherhood of man in the FUTURE, must supply the activity.

JOURNALISM

As citizens in a country whose native speech is almost an international language, the proper usage of historical and literary data has become an area of greater expansion and far reaching interests.

By studying and mastering its immense wealth, skill in using the English language is increased; our heritage is strengthened; and our culture is broadened.

EDUCATION

MOTHER M. OLGA, OSBM

PSYCHOLOGY

Since the children of TOMORROW will soon fill the vacancies left by our generation, their mental, moral, psychological, and spiritual education becomes a primary aim in the creation of the wholesome, well-rounded individuals who will lead the nations of the world.

Even more important are the roles that we, as leaders of TODAY, will play in laying the cornerstone for the world-of-tomorrow on our ever-changing planet.

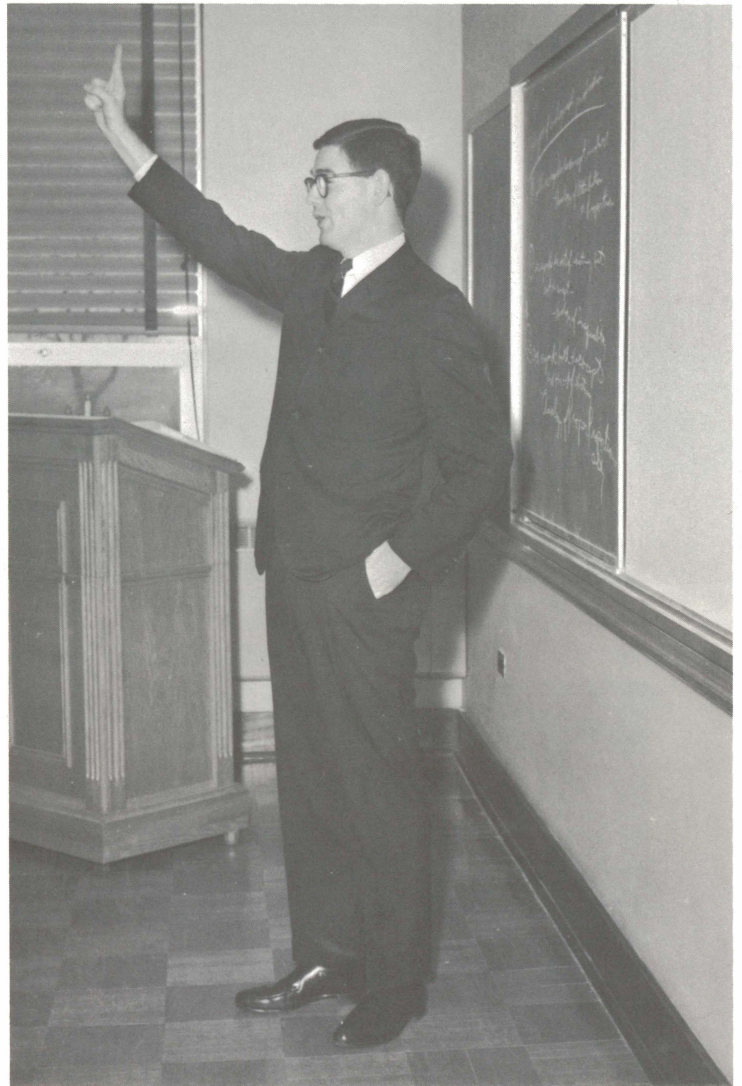

SISTER M. CECILIA, OSBM

ETHICS

Men and women live in a society consisting not merely of so many human forms, but rather of a group of persons, each claiming inherent worth and dignity.

By tracing the avenues of Aristotelian thought on the true nature of friendship, by noting the Kantian guideposts in the form of imperatives for action, and by weighing St. Thomas's firm conviction that "the ultimate end of man is happiness", one can clearly see that Ethics has become a vital element in the shaping of proper standards of life for individuals of PAST, PRESENT, AND FUTURE years.

"For one swallow does not make a spring, nor does one sunny day; similarly, one day or a short time does not make a man blessed and happy."

MR. JOHN KEARNEY

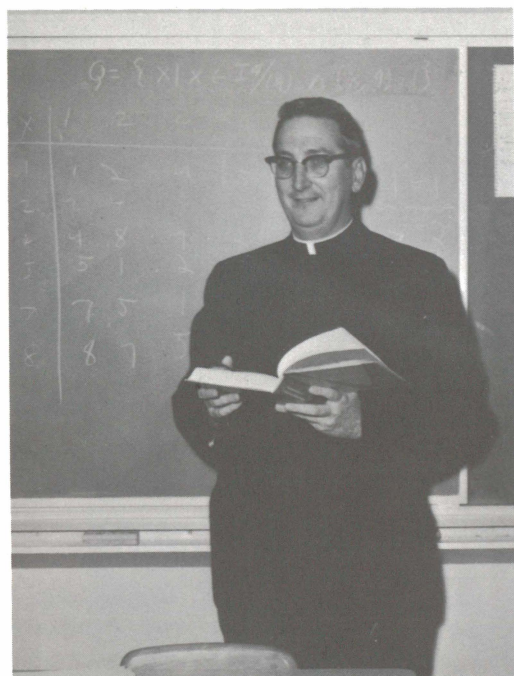

"The perfect form of friendship is that between good men who are alike in excellence or virtue."

"We must not follow those who advise us to have human thoughts, since we are (only) men, and mortal thoughts, as mortals should; on the contrary, we should try to become immortal as far as that is possible and do our utmost to live in accordance with what is in us. For though this is a small portion (of our nature), it far surpasses everything else in power and value."

SCIENCE

MOTHER M. NADIA, OSBM

MOTHER M. BOHDONNA, OSBM

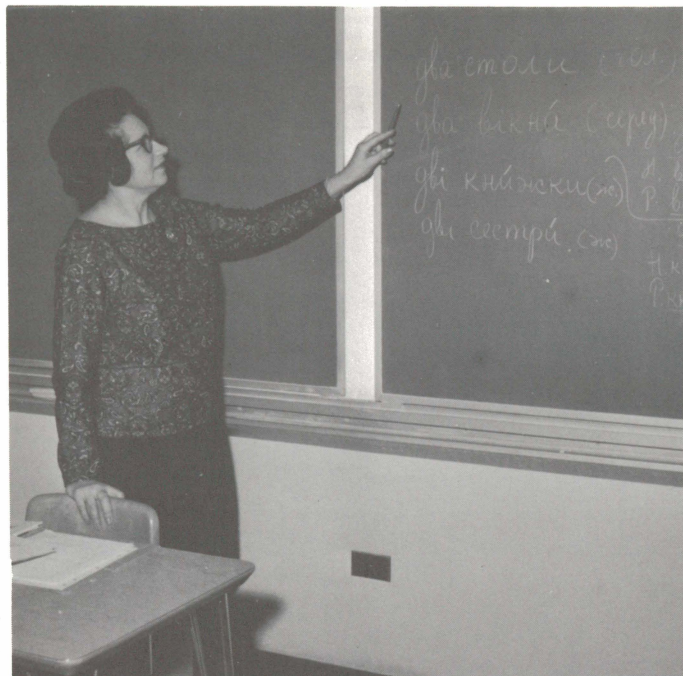

YESTERDAY saw dreams; TODAY saw action; and TOMORROW, final conquest. Current space achievements and medical discoveries focus on the need for competent individuals to man and launch new ideas.

Whether in mathematics, or in the natural or physical sciences, our revolutionary progress needs you—will you be a member of its team; or will you hide in its shadow?

LANGUAGES

As the civilizations of men and nations grew, the need for a common means of communication within certain territorial borders became very necessary. Freedom of expression and a desire to be understood became a second campaign in living.

As students of these foreign 'tongues,' we are no longer confined to natural jurisdictions. Crusading spirits have taken our dreams and accomplishments to the far corners of the earth—north, south, east, and west.

MR. VINCENT J. SERFILIPPO

SOCIAL SCIENCES

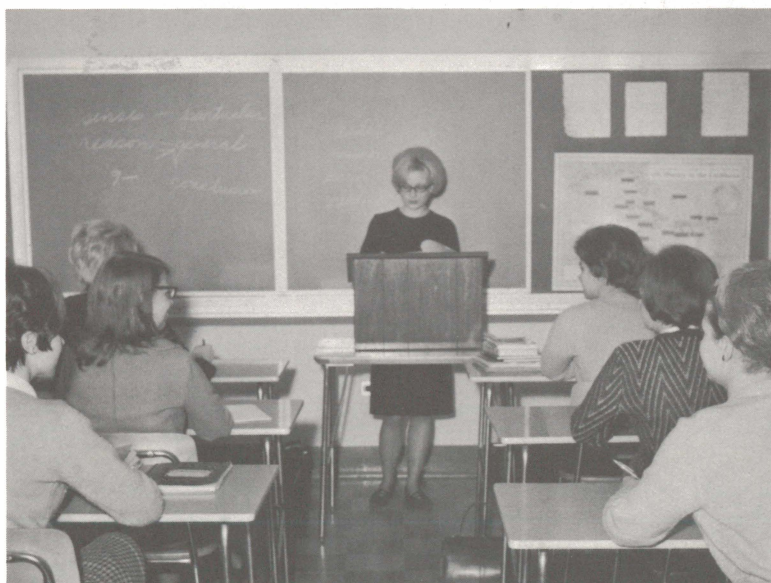

MR. BRIAN DAMIANI

In order to find our true places in society's network of defenders, aides, and pioneers, the social sciences endeavor to probe man's undying effort to establish himself in reputable areas of TOMORROW by learning from the PAST and building for the FUTURE.

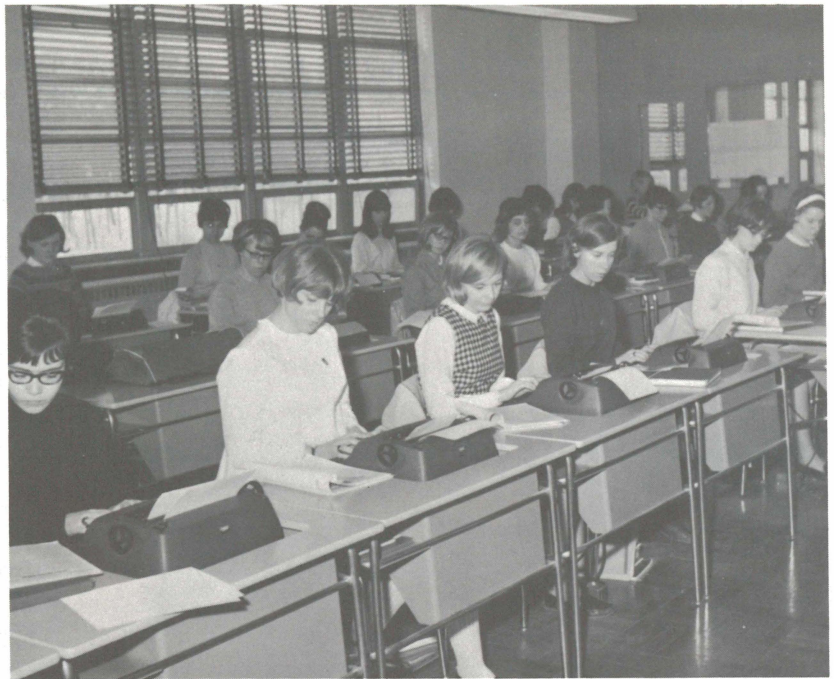

SISTER M. CECELIA, OSBM

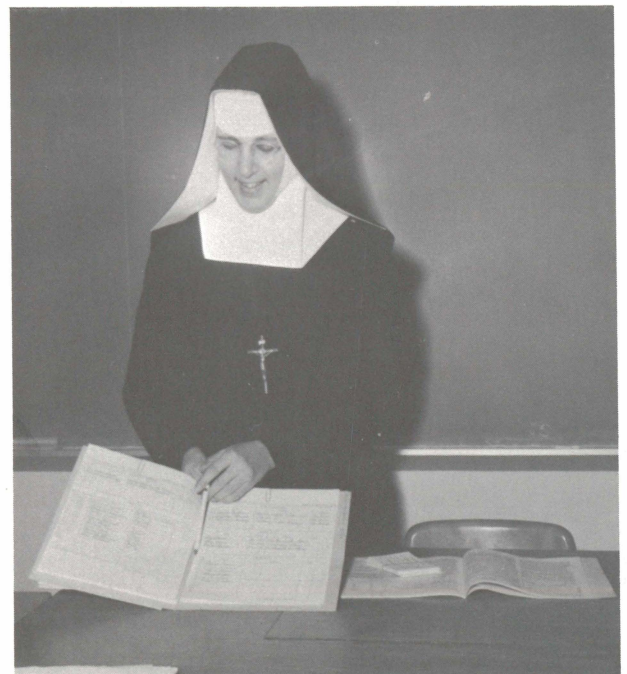

BUSINESS EDUCATION

MRS. ANN HARRIS

To meet the growing demands in the executive, legal, and medical secretarial fields, in addition to very superior, high level secretarial skills, TODAY'S secretary must possess a keen interest in and a wide knowledge of academic affairs in general. For these reasons, she enters college—for these reasons, she graduates, a promising candidate ready to handle a challenging position.

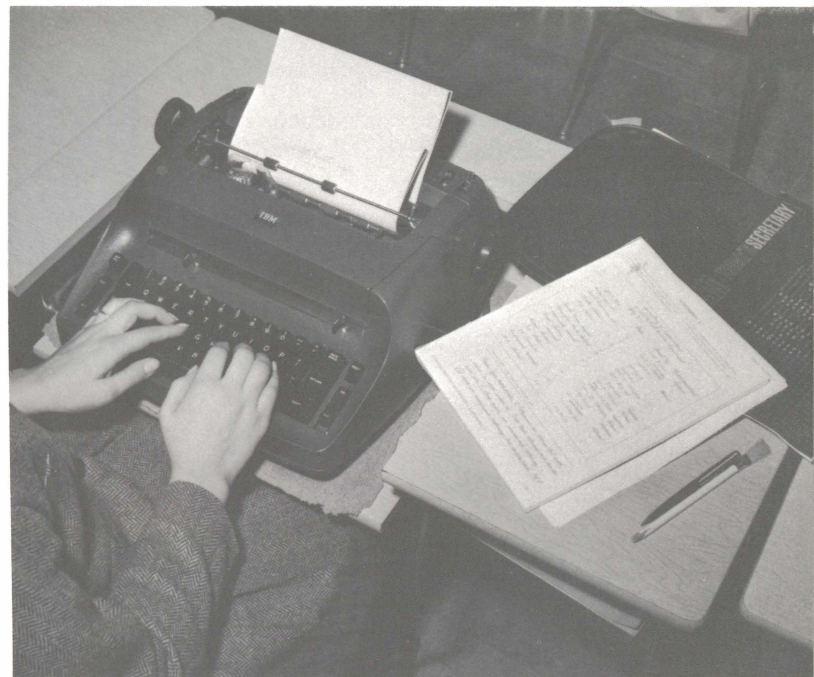

MOTHER MIRIAM CLAIRE, OSBM

MISS ALICE F. WEAVER

EXECUTIVE SECRETARIAL

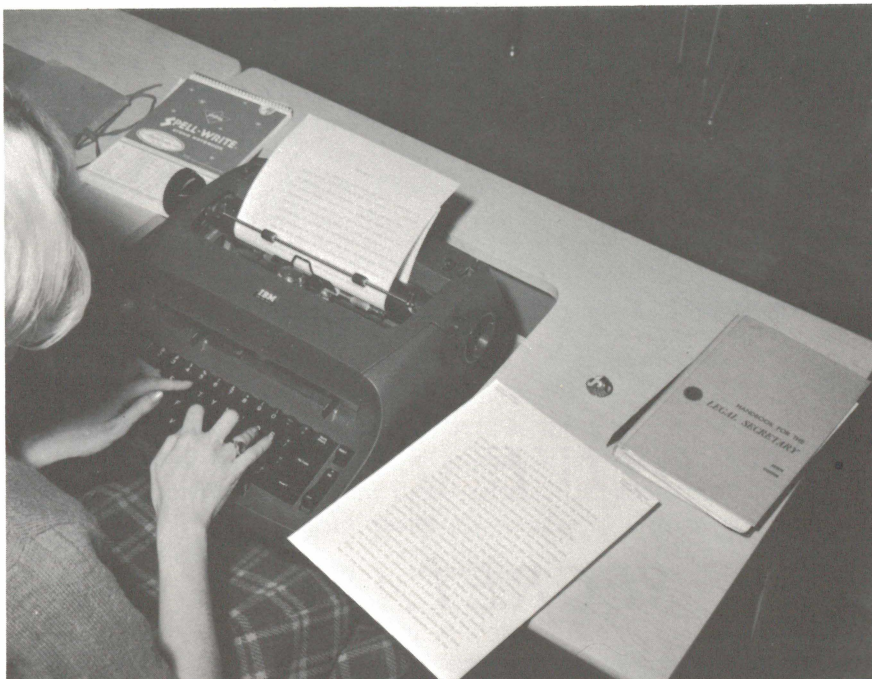

Anticipating positions as assistants to the people in the higher echelons of business, science, and industry, the executive secretary acquires a general knowledge of broad terms and scientific expressions so frequently used when working with boards of directors or the managers of large departments in many fields.

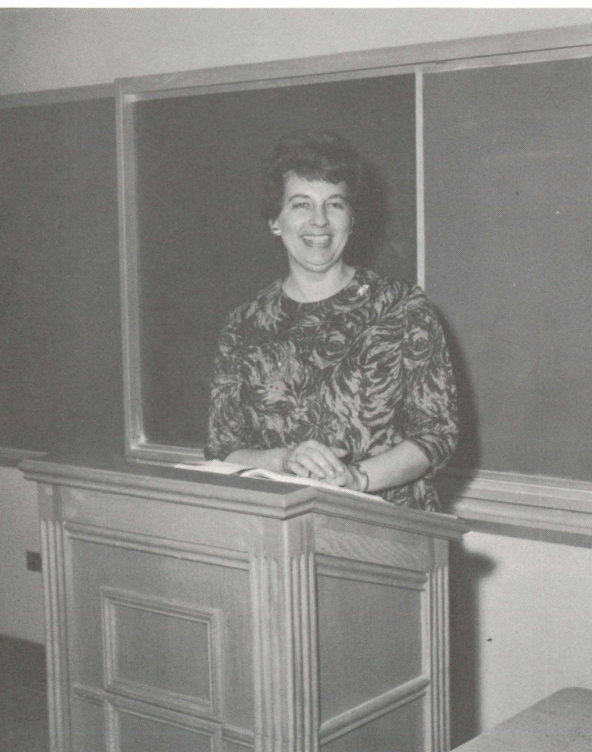

MISS ALICE F. WEAVER

To maintain accuracy in the legal transactions of business and government, society demands that competent individuals fill the legal positions. These obligations are met by the legal secretary in typing all legal documents and papers as well as in handling correspondence. Her training in Business Law, Accounting, and Legal Transcription, with her Liberal Arts background, provides her with this knowledge and skill.

SECRETARIAL

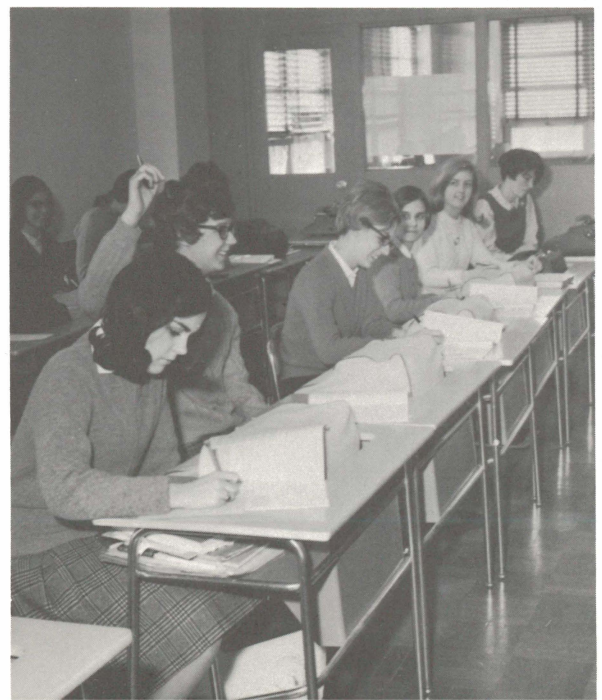

MISS ALICE F. WEAVER

With medical terminology and accurate stenography, the medical secretarial trainee finds her niche in an interesting variety of endeavors.

The Medical Manorettes, whose knowledge of medical technology and anatomy opens up many opportunities, are often found aiding medical science in the fields of medical librarians, doctor's secretaries, and medical clerks.

MUSIC

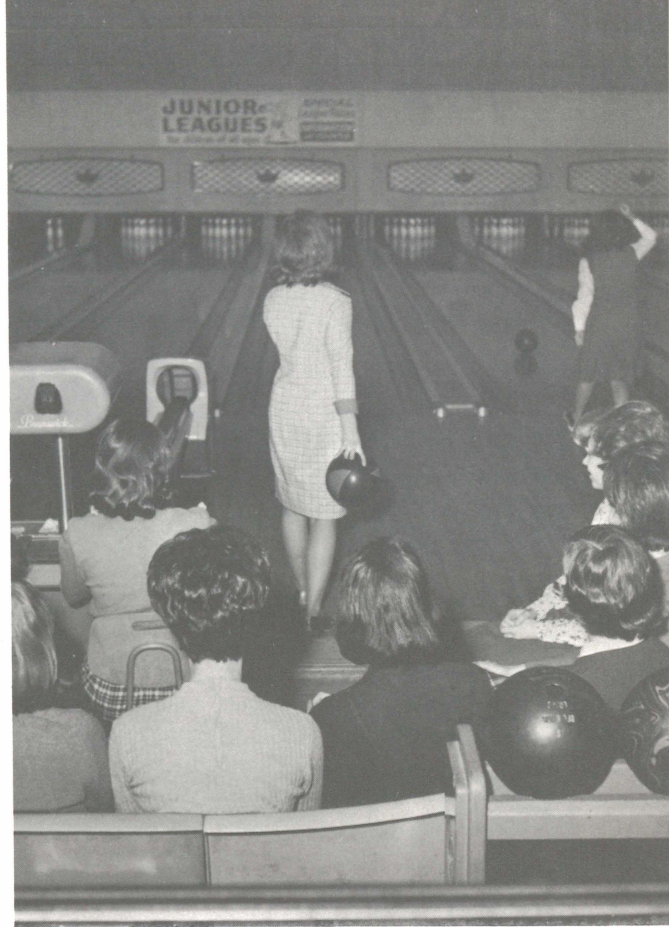

MOTHER M. LAURA, OSBM

As an invisible bond of friendship and esteem, music has been a source of inspiration to all who have opened their hearts to its magical rhythm. Soon, we forget the problems of the world; for TO-DAY will quickly fade into the realm of memories. Listen to the sounds of the refrain so that you, too, may awaken to its beauty.

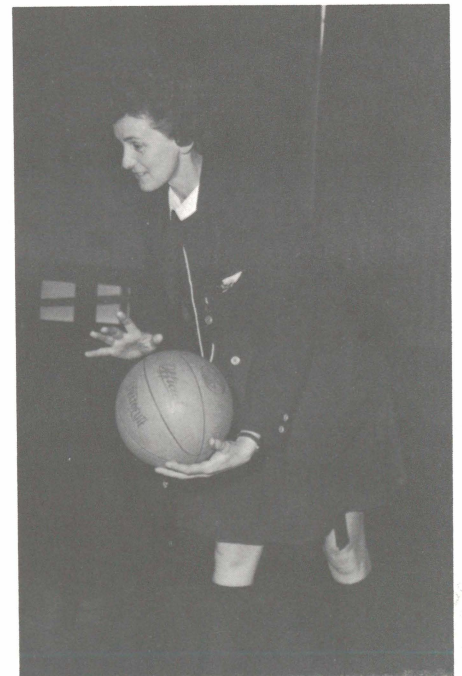

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

With the new accent on youth, outdoor life, and fitness, physical education has become an essential element for keeping in shape to combat the fatigue that often accompanies strenuous exercises.

In this vein, we, the pacesetters of TODAY realize that "the FUTURE belongs to the fit."

MRS. ANN COYLE

LIBRARY

MOTHER M. ANNE, OSBM

As the days fly past and deadlines for assignments draw nigh, Manorettes find themselves in the narrow aisles of St. Thomas More library.

By encouraging student attendance at the games with neighboring women's colleges, and through co-ed meets with institutions like La Salle and St. Joseph's Colleges, this group of boosters saw Manorettes come through, undefeated.

*We are ready to take our place in society—
as students of the past,
as citizens of the future,
as children of Manor,
ever a tribute to our Alma Mater ever ready to interpret our established ideals.*

“And, departing leave behind us, footprints on the sands of time.”

Among guests of honor, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Harasym.

From hors d'oeuvres and a smiling group of faculty, families, and friends to the final note of good wishes in song, addresses to the two honorees, sitting while their guests stood, the testimonial dinner honoring ten years of service to Manor for both Miss Alice F. Weaver of the Secretarial Department and Mrs. Ann Pyndesky Kiczula, secretary to the Dean and Bookstore Manager proved a highlight in the Spring Festivities.

Provincial Superior Mother Carmela, OSBM, and Mother Euphrosyne, OSBM, presented plaques to each honoree as Dean Mother Olga, OSBM, read each citation.

The formal address of Mr. John Kearney (Ethics) who was introduced by Mr. Brian Damiani, revealed interesting facts in each lady's career.

MEMO

From: The 1967 Macrinian Staff

Subject: Acknowledgements

To the fine people who have contributed their time and creativity, we of the 1967 Macrinian Staff would like to express our gratefulness and heartfelt thanks.

To Miss Juanita M. Downes, Moderator, the 1967 staff echoes appreciation for invaluable advice and unceasing efforts in guiding the production of the Macrinian.

We thank Mother Olga, OSBM, Dean of Manor, for her interest and concern, especially for her timely help in reproducing the early history of the College.

An accomplishment beyond words, Mr. Myron Friedman's creative eye has captured the essence of Manor in photographs, which bespeak the time and effort involved in their realization.

To our publisher's representative, Mr. Carl Peterson, we owe many thanks for countless hints about style, design and layout.

Lastly, for each loyal staff member, there is but one reward—pride in the 1967 Macrinian which will reflect our irreplaceable memories of Manor,

YESTERDAY, TODAY AND TOMORROW!

Thanks once again,

The Editor and Staff, 1967

Listen to the Exhortation
of the Dawn
Look to this Day, for it
is Life
The very Life of Life!
In its brief course lie all
the Verities
And all the Realities
Of your Existence:
The bliss of Growth,
The Glory of Action,

The Splendor of Beauty;
For Yesterday is but a Dream
And tomorrow is only a vision;
But Today, well lived,
Makes every Yesterday a
Dream of Happiness.
And every Tomorrow a
Vision of Hope.
Look well, therefore, to this
Day!
Such is the Salutation of
the Dawn.

Nun's Chorus in The Sound of Music.

Khoral Klub, 1966-1967.

Expressing the joy of the Yuletide season through song, Manor's Khoral Klub provided delightful entertainment, while recalling fond reminiscences of past Christmas seasons. But exercise of vocal chords is not a seasonal experience for Khoral Klub members; for much time and energy has been spent by members in forming the choruses of Manor's theatrical production for The Sound of Music. Manorettes' enthusiastic pursuit of musical activities enables them to enrich their cultural background, by leading their audience into a land of musical enchantment.

St. Joseph's College Glee Club.

Enchanted Island— Enchanted Audience

That delightful fantasy of William Shakespeare's, The Tempest, presented by the American Classical Theatre, provided Manorettes with a rare opportunity of observing a truly professional production on campus.

By transporting the audience from reality to an enchanted island where dwelled the magician Prospero, his daughter Miranda, the half-human, half-brute Caliban and the spirit Ariel, the actors left their spectators with a feeling of intellectual elevation that only professional thespians can produce.
